If you are stuck at work and have nothing to do, the iSpy will help you with this problem. You will be able to check the weather, your stats on the sports pages, your social network or even catch up on the news while working on your project. With many options and a bit of patience, this tool will help you to get the work done. In addition, you will be able to find out which version of the browser you are currently using and also catch up with the latest news of the industry. Since you will be spending most of your time doing nothing, you may want to keep your work environment tidy, and therefore you will be able to find a more convenient way to organize your e-mails, to receive a reminder of the time to make your lunch break, or even to check your social network on your desktop. Kickstart News Collection Backends Kickstart News Collection Backends is great software for helping you to turn any list of news, magazines and blogs from within your custom software, into a RSS feed that others can subscribe to. It saves you a lot of time and trouble, and it could easily be used to turn data that you have gotten from a search engine. Once you have this RSS feed, you can put it on any web site or newsletter. In Kickstart News Collection Backends, you simply drag any news file, magazine or blog you want to use into the program, and all you have to do is select the field that you want to use, and click 'Add'. And if you want, you can drag any more of your own files into the program, and when the program finds the media, it simply plonks them all in to a neat set of templates. From that point, it is just a matter of dragging your thumbnail image for each item, or uploading an image file of your own for each item, and putting the names of the items into the appropriate field. Then, it's just as easy to remove any item that has been shown. Simply select the box you want to use, and click 'Remove'. Once you have created the items that you want to use, you can just save it for future use. You can use the program in a multi-user site, or you can go back and make a new set of items in your single-user program, and then share that. You can even import the items that you have created into either feed reader, or even blog yourself. And if you save the items to an XML format, you can use them easily in a variety of custom programs. They can work together with other items, or you can build all of the individual item pages that you need from them. Thus, you could use Kickstart News Collection Backends to create a set of news, a set of online magazines, a set of blogs, a set of online news channels, or you could combine them into a variety of other sets. New items can be created in just minutes, and once they are created, you can automatically add them to any site
