Heart to Heart is a dating simulation game. It's a sci-fi comedy in which a guy meets three girls. He has to start a romance with each of them by getting in touch with them. It is not easy, though, as there are some difficulties to overcome such as customs. However, you'll be able to decide if you want to do it or not, and to make it happen, you will need to show confidence. This game can be played only for 3 players. It doesn't have an age limitation. Key features: - Many scenes in which you will interact with characters. - Each character has a different personality. - You will have to balance between the three in order to get a happy life. - If you want you can skip some scenes. Gameplay - Each scene can be performed by the player and the girls simultaneously. - You don't have to play the entire game in one sitting. You can do it in pieces, when you are ready. - You get to talk with the girls, by clicking on the text field, and then, if you like what you hear, you can make a wish on it. If it happens, it'll come true. - You can try to go to couples nights together, and, if you succeed, you'll get married. If you don't succeed, you won't meet the girl anymore. - You can interact with the girls by offering gifts, by asking them for a date, by giving them flowers, or by proposing them. - You can also kiss the girls, and you can go to the exam. The story begins with a lone white spaceship, gliding through the beautiful starry night. On board are nothing but three girls, headed for a planet with no signs of life. On their way, they happen to meet a huge planet, consisting of buildings, cars, and other things, floating in the sky. While the ship circles the planet in order to land safely, the girls explore the world. They also meet some animals, get their hands on some gems, and even eat some food at a restaurant. Everything is going well and they are having a great time. Their adventure, however, comes to a sudden halt when they receive a threatening message, warning them that they're not allowed to land. How will they react, after all? Will they give up on their journey? Will they leave the planet to its fate? Will they find a way to c9d1549cdd
